DEMPSEY KNOCKS OUT CARPENTIER IN 4TH ROUND

Carpentier Force Fight From Gong, but Dempsey's Blows And Strength Triumph

Ringside, Jersey City.—Jack Dempsey retained his title as heavy weight champion of the world by knocking out Georges Carpentier, Europe's "wonder man", in the fourth round of their bout here this afternoon.

Dempsey scored his victory after one minute and sixteen seconds of fighting in the fourth round. A right to the jaw by Dempsey soon after the fourth round opened and sent carpentier crashing to the floor for the first knockdown of the fight Carpentier lying still for the count of eight and then bounding to feet.

Dempsey savagely tore into him and sent him down and out with a series of body punches. Carpentier was dragged to his corner by his seconds and after a few minutes work he revived. He went across the ring and congratulated Dempsey.

"He is the best man in the world", said Georges ruefully as he made his way out of the ring. He was given big cheer by the crowd.

Carpentier put a great fight. The first round was even. Carpentier surprised the great crowd of 90,000 by leading in the attack with the ring ing of the first bell. He shot one left to Dempsey's jaw.

The second round saw a lot of hot fighting and Carpentier made his best showing. He popped Dempsey once flush on the jaw with a vicious right swing. Dempsey tottered back on his heels. There was no doubt but what Dempsey was hurt., but the champ shook his head and bored in and kept the Frechman off balance of round.

In the third round, it was a new Dempsey who came out of his corner. He went right after Carpentier viciously. Dempsey began to hook with his left and scored with it repeatedly. He rocked Carpentier's head and in the clinches he shook him to the floor with powerful body punches. When the bell rang for the end of the third round, Carpentier was hanging on to Dempsey and was weak and wabbly.

Dempsey was shooting in body punches and there seemed no doubt that if the bell had not rung, the fight would have been over in a minute or two.

The fourth round had barely started when Dempsey went right after the challenger. They were boxing near Carpentier's corner when Dempsey landed a crashing right hook to jaw and down went Carpentier in a heap. Dempsey walked away, and the referee slowly tolled off the fatefull count. Carpentier didn't move until the referee said "eight", and then got to his feet, standing up just as the referee said "nine".

Like a fury Dempsey was right on top of him, lashing out with both left and right. Several of them connected and just as Carpentier tottered Dempsey shot a visious left hook that hit Carpentier squarely on the abdomen and he went down. Dempsey again walked away, and the referee slowly counted off the seconds. Carpentier rolled over in effort to get up, but couldn't make it as referee said "ten" Dempsey his two hands in the air in token victory and a mighty shout went up from the crowd.

Dempsey was wildly cheered.

Carpentier was pretty badly battered as he left the ring. His nose was cut and bleeding and deep cut under eye. Dempsey was unmarked.

STILL LOCATED NEAR GUILFORD

75 GALLONS OF MASH DESTROYED BY OFFICERS.

PARTIES WERE NOT FOUND

Empty Bottles and Other Signs of a Still Secured—Officers Have Watched Place.

The county authorities found this week a still that had been in operation about three and a half miles northeast of Guilford on the John Langley place which is composed of timber and brush. The parties operating the still could not be located.

About seventy-five gallons of mash which were in two barrels were destroyed. These barrels together with two other barrels which had contained mash were secured by the authorities and the party or parties who can identify them can have the same. Several empty bottles were found. The stove which had been used was not there, but parties said the stove was in use last Sunday.

Prosecuting Attorney McCaffrey received word Tuesday that a still had been in operation near Guilford. Mr. McCaffrey with Sheriff Roach and Deputies Atherton and Purcell went to Guilford Wednesday for an investigation. The still was located in brush and timber on the Langley farm so that it was hard to see from the road. The officers returned Thursday night and watched the place. Last night Sheriff Roach and Deputies Atherton and Purcell watched the place and decided to destroy the mash. It is thought the parties heard that officers were watching the place.

Reports have been received that several stills are operating in the county.

HAS BEST OF 2ND ROUND

Dempsey in Bad Way But Rallies and Slips Over Knockout—The Details From Ringside.

Rig side, Jersey City, July 2.—Cloudy and cool weather for the fight and a thick haze hung over the arena at ten o'clock this morning. A damp breeze is blowing.

An announcement was made from the ring that the fight will be going on promptly at 3 o'clock this afternoon, rain or shine.

Both fighters are confident of victory.

"If possible, I will win today's fight with one punch", said Dempsey.

"I will win. My right hand will make me champion of the world", Carpentier declared.

There was a big rush when the gates opened. The $5.50 seats were filled early.

Shortly after noon the fighters in the first preliminary entered the ring. By noon each entrance in the big bowl was crowded and the seats filled up rapidly. Jackey Curtin and Mickey Delmot, feather weights, exchanged blows for five rounds. None paid much attention to the fighters. Finally the bout came to an end after eight rounds. Curtin won by a mile.

James Corbett arrived at 12:45 and sat down in the press section. He is reporting the battle for clients of the International News Service.

Burns and Young O'Gatty mixed for a second preliminary. Burns piled up a safe lead on points.

Al Jolson, famous black face comedian, arrived in the scene.

Kid McCoy arrived at the ring side at 1:40.

The ring was cleared at 2:45 o'clock for the big battle, and a black onimous cloud drifted over head and looked as though it would rain before the gong could bring Dempsey and Carpentier together.

Announcer Joe Humphreys said there would be no challenges from the ring side. Tommy Gibbons sent a challenge to the ringside. The ring is full of managers, fighters and seconds.

It looks like a convention. The fighters came to the ring without any bandages on their hands. They posed for their pictures shaking hands. Carpentier smiled but Dempsey looked toward the camera.

This is the first heavy weight fight in history in which the bandages were put on under the supervision of a boxing commission. Three layers of bandages and gauze tape are all that will be permitted. Descamps is in Dempsey's corner arguing about the amount of bandages they put on Dempsey's hands.

Carpentier sat in his corner watching several friends. He recognized a friend in the audience and smiled and bowed. You might have thought he was sitting down to eat his breakfast, for all that he was concerned.

"Both fighters looked to be in good condition," Jim Corbett. "Carpentier is the coolest challenger I've seen in all my experience, unless he is acting, which I doubt"

The members of the New Jersey boxing commission were introduced to the crowd.

Kearns is standing in Carpentier's corner, watching him put the bandages on, chewing gum and trying to act very unconcerned. Governor Edwards was next introduced. The Governor got a big hand.

Bill Brennan was introduced and said he was anxious to meet the winner. Next came Harry Ertle, official referee. He bowed to the fans at the ringside. Jim Savage, associate referee, also was introduced. Jim lives at Orange, N. J. They wanted Corbett to climb into the ring but Jim asked them to scratch it. Jim gets enough applause during the long theatrical season to last him a year.

"I don't think they should take that much time introducing people," said Jim. "It doesn't interest the audience. What they want to see is the fight."

Carpentier is winding on his own tape. Dempsey's hands have been taped and they are softening the gloves for him.

Announcer Humphreys jused ordered everyone but the fighters, seconds and the referee to leave the ring. Joe Bannon was announced as the official timekeeper.

Descamps has evidently taken stock in the report that Dempsey's hands were full of some foreign element at Toledo. He did not turn to his own corner until after Dempsey's gloves had been laced up and the laces cut.

TOWNSPEOPLE INVITED TO PROGRAM JULY 14.

IN JAPANESE SETTING

Maryville Band Will Give Concert on Campus and There Will be Songs and Dances.

A little bit of Japan will be transplanted to the State Teachers College campus Thursday night, July 14, when the Young Women's Christian Association of the college will be hosts to students and towns people at a lawn fete.

The fete will be given on the campus directly in front of the main building. Japanese lanterns will be used in decorating, and all those who assist at the various booths will wear Japansse costumes. It will begin at 7:30 o'clock, when dusk adds to the charms of the college campus.

A number of booths will be provided at which Japanese maidens will sell ice cream and candy and other good things. There will be a fortune-telling booth and a fish pond.

Arrangements for the program have not been completed, but it includes music by the Maryville Concert Band. The Y. W. C. A. has asked the Chamber of Commerce to have the band give its regular Thursday night concert that week on the college campus instead of in the court house yard.

Other attractions will be readings and dances by the Courtney children and a toe dance by Olive Ewing. Mrs. F. P. Robinson and Miss Opal Kent of Albany will sing.

A silver offering will be taken at the program to defray the expenses of the Y. W. C. A.'s delegates to the national conference at Estes Park, Colo. Miss Mary Condon and Elizabeth Leet are two of the delegates, with two others to be chosen.

The Y. W. C. A. has been very active at the college this summer. One hundred and fifty girls were recently received as new members at a recent meeting.

Ready Response From All Towns—Large Delegations From All Towns Here Tomorrow.

"What's going on up there in Maryville," came a voice over the long distance wire from St. Joseph this morning to Secretary George Pickens of the Chamber of Commerce.

The inquiry was from the St. Joseph Automobile Club, and the speaker complained that the club is being kept busy answering questions as to the condition of roads leading to Maryville. He was assured that roads in this vicinity were not hurt by this morning's light shower. He was also told why so many calls were being received and urged to bring the members of the Automobile club to the big patriotic Sunday school gathering, in which Missouria is aligned against Iowa.

H. S. Cook of the Peoples Bank of Maitland telephoned late yesterday that there would be forty-three cars from Maitland tomorrow morning. When he was told that Governor Hyde would address the class he asked time to revise his figures and refused to set a maximum.

Reports received today were that Burlington Junction would send 100 men; Clearmont 80 to 90; and Skidmore 90 to 100.

The following is the booster committee from Skidmore: H. W. Montgomery, chairman; John Reynolds, Jim Weddle, Frank Barrett, W. S. Linville, Dr. J. E. Pierpoint and Ralph Paschal.

A cordial invitation is extended to all of the men of the town and those men from other churches and classes to meet with the Bible Class if they can consistenly leave their own affiliations.

Governor Hyde is expected to arrive in Maryville either this evening or early in the morning. He will make his address to the class about 9:30 o'clock. He will leave on the morning Wabash for Gallatin, where he will change for Trenton.

This is Governor Hyde's first visit to Maryville since his election.

As the Men's Bible class will have their class meeting in the auditorium of the church Sunday morning at which time Governor Hyde will speak, the other Sunday school classes will meet elsewhere. The Young Peoples Division will meet in the I. O. O. F. hall on West Third street. All adult classes of women will meet at the Conservatory recital hall. The children division will hold their classes in the basement of the church.

There was a good attendance at the meeting last night on East First street. The class band of twenty pieces furnished music and there were talks by the Rev. R. E. Snodgrass and Mayor F. P. Robinson.

LAMKIN HONORED BY HIGH OFFICERS

IS GUEST OF HONOR AT FAREWELL BANQUET.

REGRETS FROM HARDING

Cabinet Members, Congressmen and Other Government Officials Wish Retiring Director Well.

The following article about Uel W. Lamkin, the new head of the State Teachers College is taken from the Washington Star, issue of June 24:

Uel W. Lamkin, retiring director of the Federal Board for Vocational Education, was the honor guest at a farewell dinner given by employes of the board last night at the Cairo apartments. Representatives Bankhead of Alabama and Towner of Iowa and other government officials paid tribute to Mr. Lamkin's service and wished him well in his return to private life. Several hundred attended the dinner.

Representative Bankhead praised the work accomplished by the vocational board during its short existence in the way of rehabilitating service men whose capacity for earning a living was impaired by injuries sustained in the conflict overseas. He declared in the past two years several thousand men in training under the supervision of the Board have seen their earning power increased from $1,073 to $1,483 a year. This aid extended to heroes of the war showed clearly the good wrought not only for the men themselves, but, economically, for the country, he pointed out. He added that Congress as a body appreciated the service rendered by the board under Mr. Lamkin's direction.

Representative Towner briefly told of his own esteem of Director Lamkin and of the federal board.

Messages of regret from President and Mrs. Harding, Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Hoover, Senator Smoot of Utah and other public officials unable to attend were read by Calvin F. McIntosh, toastmaster and member of the board.

United States Commissioner of Education John J. Tigert, told of the large educational aspects of the work of the board, declaring that rehabilitation is having a far-reaching effect in abetting the return to normal industrial conditions.

W. I. Hamilton, chief of training relations, outlined some of the training problems to be met in vocational education. H. L. Brunson, chief of industrial relations, explained the work conducted under his supervision. R. T. Fisher, assistant director for vocational rehabilitation, spoke his appreciation of Mr. Lamkin's fidelity to the board. A number of ex-service men taking vocational courses were present and contributed various entertainment features.

Next Week At the Movies

AT THE ELECTRIC

Norma Talmadge plays the star role in the feature, "The Isle of Conquest", which will be the headline attraction on Monday and Tuesday.

"The Isle of Conquest" is a fast moving drama treating with a young girl's marriage to a wealthy waster, through the efforts of a designing mother. Later, the yacht upon which they are cruising is wrecked and she finds herself safe upon an uninhabited island with a stoker from the ship's hold. Months of isolation kindles within them a mutual love and all hope of rescue having perished, they are preparing to enact their marriage rite when suddenly her husband appears to return her to his world of sham. Here the circumstances become tragic, concluding with an unexpected and sensational climax.

A mystery drama of unusual power dealing with high society, a jewel theft and a gentlemanly crook, is "Someone in the House", a Metro special production which will be shown Wednesday and Thursday. This screen version of the famous Broadway success is presented with an all-star cast.

Jim Burke, known as "The Dancer" seeks to gain possession of the famous Brent diamonds by making love to the daughter, Molly Brent. But that love which he had always sneered at, leads him through a thrilling course and furnishes many startling angles to this mystery drama.

Edmund Lowe as "The Dancer" gives an artistic portrayal of the society crook. Vola Vale charms as the loving daughter of wealth, while Edward Connelly is a traditional pawnbroker fence. Other in the all-star cast are William J. Irving, Clara Lee, Lawrence Grant, Henry Miller, Jr., and Thomas McGuire.

Marc Robbins and Lois Zellner scenarioized the story which was directed by John E. Ince and photographed by George K. Hollister. Special art interiors were by Earl F. Olin.

Wanda Hawley, a star popular with Maryville theatre-goers will appear on the screen Friday in "The House That Jazz Built."

The story is a clever and entertaining one of a woman who nearly loses her husband because she grows lazy, careless and finally unattractive under the temptation of too much luxury. The fault is partly the husband's for petting and indulging her so much, but, of course, he heaps all the reproaches upon her and departs in a rage never to return!

Comedy is invoked when the young wife, again trained down to fitness, brings back a repentant husband, to the vast discomfiture of the vamp who almost won him. All in all it is exceptionally amusing fun treatment of a situation that has been duplicated many times in real life. Saturday Evening Post readers will recall the original story "Sweetie Peach" and undoubtedly find added interest in the manner in which the idea has been placed on the silver sheet.

On Saturday night Carmel Myers will be featured in, "The Gilded Dream". It is a fascinating story of a young girl's ambitions and how she is confronted with the decision whether she shall give up her dreams and marry money or put aside her long cherished ambitions and marry for love. It is an interesting plot that carries Miss Myers thru a series of very interesting and amusing incidents.

AT THE EMPIRE.

On Monday and Tuesday Hobart Bosworth will be shown in "Below the Surface." In this picture Mr. Bosworth takes the role of Martin Flint, a sturdy New Englander. His son, Luther, is his partner in his dangerous profession and the apple of his eye. Flint's daring rescue of a submarine crew attracts James Arnold and Edna Gordon, unscrupulous promoters from Boston. Attracted by the girl, Luther becomes an unwitting partner in their schemes, marries Edna, and nearly loses his life in her behalf. While he lies near death, she deserts him.

Martin follows the girl to a Boston cabaret, and forces her to start back to Luther with him. The steamer in which they are traveling crashes into a derelict in a fog and sinks. Out of the wreck comes the means of clearing up Luther's difficulties and the vindication of Martin in his son's eyes.

Grace Darmond, George Webb, Lloyd Hughes, and Gladys George are included in the cast of "Below the Surface." Luther Reed wrote the story. It is a Thomas H. Ince production and is released by Paramount Arteraft. Irvin Willat directed.

Katherine MacDonald plays the feature role on Wednesday and Thursday in "The Notorious Miss Lisle." She plays the part of Gaenor Lisle, beautiful daughter of an English army officer, who is compelled to leave England to avoid the army of reporters and photographers that follows her from one end of England to the other. The girl is a prominent figure in a divorce scandal and the most talked about woman in England.

In Brittany, where she has taken refuge, Gaenor meets Peter Garsten, a tourist, who knows nothing of Gaenor's notoriety.

On a visit to some island ruins, Gaenor and Peter are marooned on the island for the night by a sudden rising of the tide. At first Gaenor refuses to marry him, believing that his request is only an observance of conventions, but Peter insists that his true love prompts the proposal, and Gaenor accepts him. They are married in a quaint old Breton church, with the groom entirely unaware of his wife's unenviable notoriety.

In Paris on their honeymoon, Peter meets an old colleague who tells him of his wife's affair in London. Peter demands that Gaenor explain her participation in the affair but Gaenor refuses to speak. She takes the channel steamer for England, and on the way to South Hampton Gaenor recognizes the man who was implicated in the scandal with her. Attempting to avoid recognition Gaenor slips and falls down the companionway. When the steamer arrives, she is removed to a Southhampton hospital. Peter believes implicitly in his wife's innocence. He locates her in the hospital, and then begins the battle to clear his wife's name——.

Aside from its rousing good fun, "Burglar Proof" a Paramount Picture to be shown Friday and Saturday, carries out a humorous theme which is worth thinking about at this time when extravagance is held responsible for the high cost of living. John Harlow is so sarcastically dubbed "Burglar Proof" but love changes him.

Bryant Washburn as "John" draws a clever picture that gets plenty of laughs from the "tightwad" while reserving admiration for the man who learns that a man can be human, though saving

First John is seen as an awkward country lout, shamed in front of a big crowd because his uncle refuses to lend him five dollars with which to take his girl on a picnic. He goes to the city with a fixed determination never to be broke again. Success finds him living in a tenement and eating in cheap "joints." His doctor tells him he must have a change to avoid a breakdown. He refuses to go out of town so dancing is prescribed as one means of a cure. Thus he becomes "Burglar Proof," but he meets his Laura and loosens up to find happiness in her love.

Ell Peters, of Peters Bros., farmers, feeders of Nodaway county, who was here today with a load of heavy Hampshire hogs, says crop conditions in his country are unusually favorable. "Corn is especially promising," remarked Mr. Peters. "The stand is extra good, color bright, and it is well advanced for this season. Many fields have been laid by. Wheat is all in the shock. Oats will be ready to cut in ten days. The oats crop will be lighter than usual. Pastures are a little short. The assurance of another good crop season should do much toward reestablishing better financial conditions." — St. Joseph Stock Yards Journal.

Fight Fans Here Knew All the Time That Dempsey Would Win

Every store and business house, office and loafing place in Maryville was overflowing yesterday and this morning with fight fans who knew just how the Carpentier-Dempsey bout was coming out. The predictions were many and various.

Here are some of the statements of the leading fight bugs of the city:

"Dempsey will put the kayo to him between the first and fifth rounds."—Silas M. Stanley.

"I have received inside dope that the fight will go to the Frenchy in the seventh or eighth on a foul."—George Mullholland.

"I dreamed last night that Dempsey put the outer to him in the first," said Fred Wolfers.

"Dempsey will knock him out in the third."—John Murrin.

"Dempsey will put that bird where it is chilly," was Bud Rhoades' opinion.

"Carpentier," said Mitch Welling.

"She will go through all twelve rounds."—Ed Keck.

"Dempsey first, last and always."—Steve Roach.

"Watch Dempsey hook his left," said Spud Atherton.

"Carpentier will knock him out. He has it coming to him."—J. F. Montgomery.

"There will be a knock-out before the seventh."—Loren Egley.

"I have seen that frog box," said Thee Robinson. "You watch. There isn't a man living who can keep both eyes on him."

There was only one fan who gave a true prediction. Cooper Gooden said, "You can't tell any more about what's going to happen than you can tell what a jury is going to do when they go out."

"I am of the opinion that if Carp can withstand Dempsey's punch for the first six rounds that he will kayo him in the seventh or eighth."—W. N. Deatherage.

"I think that there will be flowers and music for someone about 4 o'clock this afternoon," said Roland Curnutt.

"Carpentier will do it just like he said he would—with his right hand."—Dr. Will Wallis, Jr.

"I think Dempsey will win in three rounds."—Paul Sisson.

"It is not a question of who will, but how long it will take. Dempsey will smack the stuffin' out of him."—Jack Costello.

"The Frenchman."—Charles McCaffrey.

Dempsey floors him again. Dempsey wins by knockout in fourth round. Dempsey followed the Challenger around the ring erlentlessly sinking right and left into body. A right hander to jaw floored Carp for count of nine. He got to feet. Demp stood up and immediately went after the Frenchman and knocked him out with left hook to stomach after one minute an dsixteen seconds of fighting.

The fight, with its spectacular settings was truly the "battle of the century". The countless thousands who filled the great octagon, were keyed to the breaking point of excitement all during the fight. The great spectacle was at hand and before their eyes the fistic drama was unfolded.

It was a stirring moment when, after hours of waiting for many, Dempsey and Carpentier strode down the aisles and climbed into the ring. Only indifferin applause had greeted the boxers who toiled in the preliminaries, but the first glimpse of the champion as he entered with his retinue of handlers, and the first word's of "there's Carpentier" as he made his appearance with his ring followers, was the signal of a mighty tumult. Waves of applause resounded back and forth over the huge arena. Each fighter received a tremendous ovation. The clapping of thousands of hands was drowned in the frenzie cheering which swelled from a multitude of throats and seemed to inspire both battlers as they bowed recognition to the homage of those who follow the fortunes of the fistic ring.

Dempsey, when he stepped from his bathrobe, was as brown as an Indian, tanned as he was at Toledo, two years ago when he won the championship, a magnificent fighting machine of strength and power.

Carpentier was not so tanned and the difference of 18 pounds in weight was easily apparent, as he revealed himself in his fighting trunks. But there was the quick strength of the panther in every movement of his body, and he stood forth a living statue of perfect physical manhood, the picture of the athletic as well as the fighter.

There were the usual introductions from the ring, and a battery of cameras clicked and snapped as the two fighters posed with their managers and Referee Harry Ertle of New Jersey, before the fight. Dempsey with brows contracted, wore the same frowning expression which is his in the ring. Carpentier's face was calm, and there was no outward manifestation of nervousness. The wily Deschamps was ever at his side, whispering last minute advice to his protege, while Jack Kearns, alert to everything that was going on, was close to Dempsey, giving instructions and seeing that every order of the seconds was carried out.

The arena was filled long before the fight. It was the biggest crowd that ever witnessed a championship fight. About the ring were nearly seven hundred sport writers. Back of them ranged the spectators numbering sporting men from all corners of the world. Society was represented by many prominent figures and there were many women among the audience, both in the ringside section, in the mezzanine boxes around its outer edge and in the vast tiers of seats which sloped upward beyond.

The first gray strock of dawn saw the vanguard of the great crowd start the journey for the ringside. Hundreds were clamoring at the ticket windows by 8 o'clock and long before noon the crowds were filing into the arena. It had become a vast sea of seething humanity long before the first preliminary began. The crowds watched the arly bouts with but passing interest. Watchers were consulted frequently for time passed all too slowly to the zero hour of 3 o'clock when the battle supreme was scheduled to begin.

It was believed the gate receipts today totalled over $1,600,000. Dempsey was guaranteed $300,000 and Carpentier $200,000, but on the percentage basis of 26 per cent to Dempsey and 24 per cent to Carpentier, each fighter will receive much more than that figure.

Tex Rickard the P. T. Barnum of promotors, broke all records in pugilistic ventures and in today's perfectly managed contest reaped the greatest harvest in his career.

NOTABLE SERVICE!

In giving the returns of the Dempsey-Carpentier championship fight this afternoon, the Democrat-Forum scored a notable beat on every newspaper in this and adjoining counties.

As the fighters entered the ring in Jersey City, bulletins began coming over the telephone wire which the Democrat-Forum held all during the fight. At 1:35 o'clock the final result of the fight was announced.

The Democrat-Forum was the only newspaper in this section which received a full and graphic account of the fight as it was seen by expert observers at the ringside. As each blow was struck it was flashed over direct telegraph wire to Kansas City, where it was immediately transmitted to the Democrat-Forum over a telephone wire held continuously during the fight and for some time after its close. The returns were quicker fuller anr more graphic than returns of any previous fight received in Maryville have been.

At the time scheduled for the fight (3 o'clock eastern and daylight saving time, 1 o'clock Maryville time) a crowd gathered about the Democrat-Forum windows. As the fighters entered the ring, as they shook hands and as they exchanged blow for blow, the bulletins were read to the crowd by Charles McCaffrey, prosecuting attorney.

The sentiment of the crowd was apparently with Carpentier. Cheers greeted the announcement that he had won the second round. Dempsey also had supporters, but the French challenger was apparently the crowd's choice.

J. S. Perkins of Barnard was in Maryville yesterday.

H. J. Cline of Pickering was a business visitor in Maryville yesterday.

HOW WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

May Escape the Dreaded Sufferings of that Period by Taking Mrs. Block's Advice

Hopkins, Minn.—"During Change of Life I had hot flashes and suffered for two years. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the paper and got good results from taking it. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you may publish this fact as a testimonial."—Mrs. ROBERT BLOCK, Box 542, Hopkins, Minn.

It has been said that not one woman in a thousand passes this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms. Those dreadful hot flashes, sinking spells, spots before the eyes, dizzy spells, nervousness, are only a few of the symptoms. Every woman at this age should profit by Mrs. Block's experience and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., about your health. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

FRED DAVIS APPOINTED UNITED STATES MARSHAL

Former Maryville Boy to Have Charge of the Northern District of Iowa at Sioux City.

Fred Davis, of Sioux City, a former Maryville boy, has been appointed United States marshal for the northern district of Iowa. His appointment was confirmed by the Senate Wednesday. Mr. Davis visited in Maryville several months ago. He is a relative of the Jackson family and of the George D. Davis family.

The Sioux City Tribune had the following:

Mr. Davis, who had been a candidate ever since the republican landslide last fall, was openly opposed for the appointment by five other men who sought the plum, but he held the "inside" track from the beginning.

Mr. Davis has been a close follower of the political game since he entered newspaper work in 1891. While working as a political writer and Washington correspondent, he developed a wide acquaintance among members of congress and high government officials.

He is a personal friend of President Harding, Attorney General Harry Daugherty, Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, Senators Cummins and Kenyon and others of equal note.

The northern district of Iowa is considered one of the largest and most important in appointive positions. There are five divisions in the district, each with a field deputy.

Mr. Davis was born at Maryville, Mo. He attended public school at Maryville. He holds two degrees from Depauw university. He was first graduated after he had finished a classical course. Then he entered the law school and obtained his second degree. Immediately after completing law, in 1891, he came to Cedar Rapids, Ia., where he was reporter, city editor and editorial writer on Cedar Rapids papers for three years.

Since that time he has been a resident of Sioux City, being engaged for the most part in newspaper work. He was a Washington newspaper correspondent for several years and owned the Iowa News Service, which supplied 16 daily papers in Iowa with Washington news. He is head of the Howard Hotel Realty Company, a holding corporation with a paid up capital stock of $250,000, which owns the Howard hotel and other valuable downtown properties. Mr. Davis is married and the father of four children, three boys and a girl.

HISTORY OF THE TITLE

BY JACK VEIOCK

International News Sporting Editor

Back to the days when fighters fought with bare fists, with the ring pitched on the turf in some secluded spot where the contest could go on unmolested is a far, far cry, yet we must go back that far to take up the history of the heavyweight division, of which Jack Dempsey is king today.

More than a hundred years ago, in 1816, Jake Hyer was the victor in the first heavyweight championship fight held in America. His defeated opponent was Thomas Beasley. In those far away days fighters were few and far between and it was not until 1841 that Tom Hyer, who beat John McCluster, better known as Country McClosky, became the first really recognized champion. The fight took place at Caldwell's Landing, N. Y., and went 101 rounds.

Yankee Sullivan was one of McCloskey's seconds in the Caldwell Landing fight and he ended it by throwing a sponge into the ring at the end of the 101st round. In 1847 this same Yankee Sullivan, believing he could defeat Hyer, challenged him to battle and was knocked out in sixteen rounds at Rock Point, Md. Hyer later retired because he could not find an opponent and Sullivan then claimed the title and held it for a short time when he, too, quit the ring.

Heenan Vs. Sayers.

In 1852 John Morrisey defeated George Thompson in eleven rounds at Mare Island, Cal. Six years later he defeated John C. Heenan at Long Island Point, Canada, and afterward retired later becoming a Congressman. Heenan claimed the title in 1860 and was recognized as the American champion. He was known as the Benicia Boy, and when he found opponents lacking he went to England to take on Tom Sayers. How he beat Sayers until the British idol was unable to come out of his corner and how the ring ropes were cut and the battle called a draw are a matter of history.

Following Heenan came Joe Coburn Jim Dunn, Mike McCool, Tom Allen, Joe Goss and Paddy Ryan, who held the American title from 1863 to 1882, or up to John L. Sullivan's debut as the champion of this continent. It was on February 7, 1882 at Mississippi City, that Sullivan won his right to the title by knocking out Ryan in nine rounds.

The Sullivan-Corbett Fight

Sullivan held the title until James J. Corbett beat him by a knockout in twenty-one rounds at New Orleans in 1892, his best fight in the meantime being against Jake Kilrain, whom he beat in seventy-five round at Richburg, Miss., in 1889. This fight, by the way, was the last bare-knuckle fight in American heavy-weight history and the Sullivan-Corbett fight the first real American heavyweight championship contest in which big gloves were used.

Corbett held the title until 1897, when he lost it to Bob Fitzsimmons at Carson City, Nev., in fourteen rounds. Fitz was champion only two years, losing his crown to James J. Jeffries at Coney Island June 9, 1899 who held the title until 1906, when he retired.

The historian of pugilism generally credit Jim Jeffries with being the first American heavyweight with a clean claim to the world's championship, but Jim Corbet has as good a claim. The history of the division since Jeffries' time is well known.

Jeffries refereed a battle between Marvin Hart and Jack Root, won by Hart in 1905, and presented the title to Hart, who later was defeated by Tommy Burns in a twenty-rounder at Los Angeles. Burns lost the title to Jack Johnson in fourteen rounds at Sydney, Australia, in 1908, and in 1915, afted seven years as champion of the world, Johnson lost it to Jess Willard at Havana, Cuba.

Jack Dempsey, the present incumbent, defeated the mighty Willard at Toledo in three runods July 4, 1919.
